

There is a story in the Bible (Luke 5) about a paralyzed man that desperately needed to get to Jesus. Not being able to walk and get through the crowd that surrounded Jesus, presented what seemed like an insurmountable barrier to the man. But he had some good friends that picked him up and carried him on a mat to see Jesus. When they got to the house where Jesus was, the crowd was so great that they could not even get to the door. So they climbed up on the roof, removed some tiles and lowered their paralyzed friend into the room right in front of Jesus. Jesus was moved by the compassion of the man's friends and healed him on the spot. Because of his friends' faith and commitment, the paralyzed man was never the same again.
